Allergen Information

Did you know that food allergy cases are increasing? Almost 1 in 12 young children are living with a food allergy. Food allergies occur when the immune system becomes confused – instead of ignoring harmless food proteins, it triggers a reaction, which leads to the allergy symptoms.

NYES Catering is committed to providing a meal that is safe for all children, including those who have a food allergy, intolerance, or dietary requirement.

Good food allergen management is a key part of food safety legislation, food information regulations, and food labelling regulations; all which have been updated recently.

The 14 major food allergens are identified on our recipes, and our on-site catering teams have these accessible for every meal. Our food safety system clearly documents our food allergen controls and we have strict food allergen policies and procedures to comply with legislation.

Our Service

At NYES Catering we pride ourselves on the school meals we offer, and are committed to great quality, and nutritionally balanced food.

We promote local and fresh. 75% of our meals are cooked daily on-site with ingredients from our main suppliers located within Yorkshire to reduce our carbon footprint and promote local businesses.

We want children to develop healthy eating habits whilst eating with us, which will ensure they get the nutrition they need to learn and grow. Our friendly catering teams love what they do and they can't wait to make and serve your children a delicious meal!

Zinc

Zinc is a mineral that helps with wound healing, making new cells and enzymes; and helping your body use the other nutrients in food, such as carbohydrate, fat and protein. It's an important mineral to include in your diet.

Some food items that provide zinc include meat, shellfish, dairy foods, bread, and cereal products.

Provided you eat a varied and balanced diet, like our menu can help provide, you should be getting all the zinc your body needs.

Did you know that approximately 1/3 of the zinc present in our bodies can be found in our bones?
